

Dear John,

Please find attached the PPT file, which includes the FAR Game examples, primarily medium-size residential and commercial buildings. Most of them were built for the last five years and the fact is also related to our theme.

We have not pondered alternative titles much yet. I hope the curators will bring some, but I think "Creative Constraints: The FAR Game" is the best so far.

I got an approval from the Chair of Scientific Committee, UIA 2017 Seoul that I can write a letter to you, Ricky and Aravena. The Chair can only confirm a round trip business class airfare and accommodation. The honorarium needs to be discussed with the two Co-Chair of Organizing Committee who are responsible for the entire budget.

So the process is this: I write emails to invited speakers. You accept invitation, and the Co-Chair of Organizing Committee sends an official invitation letter to you later. There will be some red tapes. But this is how the big event works in Korea.

I am going to write two separate emails to Ricky, one about UIA and another about VB title and PPT as soon as I hear from your suggestions.

Sung.
